Navico signs Scanstrut

By IBI Magazine

Scanstrut Ltd, a UK-based marine electronics manufacturer, has signed an agreement to provide sail and powerboat products to Navico, the Norwegian boating electronics group.

The worldwide contract will see Scanstrut supplying two Navico logistics centres in Europe and Asia Pacific. Scanstrut has already supplied Navico with radar mounts for a number of years.

The Scanstrut range of products includes mounting for radar, satcom, GPS, VHF antennas and navigation lights for powerboats, sailboats, commercial and military vessels. The firm has distribution in more than 30 countries. Its head office is in Devon, southwest England.

Navico brands include B&G, Lowrance, Navman, Northstar and Simrad. The group is headquartered in Norway and represented in over 100 countries.
